

MANY BACK SENATOR'S CAMPAIGN

Twenty Counties Of State Support Shortridge

Senator Samuel M. Shortridge has been endorsed as a candidate for renomination and re-election by twenty Republican county committees of Northern and Central California. The counties endorsing the Shortridge candidacy include Butte, Contra Costa, Glenn, Napa, Lake, Sacramento, San Joaquin, San Mateo, Solano, Sonoma, Sutter, Tuolumne, Yuba, Yuba, Amador, Nevada, Del Norte, Stanislaus, Sierra and Mendocino.

The directors of the Walnut Growers' Association have endorsed Senator Shortridge for re-election. Arthur H. Samish, Northern California Shortridge campaign director, has been advised.

"The board called attention to the successful efforts made by Senator Shortridge in behalf of the walnut industry of California, when the present tariff law was written," said Samish. "The sense of the meeting was that tariff-protected industries and the growers of tariff-protected products should join forces in the campaign to keep Senator Shortridge in office, in recognition of his invaluable services to California."

Mosquito Worker Bitten By Snake

Peter Torres, for many years employed by the Pulgas Mosquito Abatement District, was bitten by a rattlesnake on the Finkler ranch in the foothills Monday while oiling a creek in that vicinity. Torres did not see the reptile coiled up on the bank in the grass and placed his hand upon the snake, which sank its fangs into the fingers of his right hand. Torres was taken to the office of Dr. Mason, who injected a serum into the wound. Later Torres was taken to Mills Memorial Hospital. He is recovering. Mr. J. Dickey, superintendent of the abatement district, asserts that this is the first time he has ever known of a rattler in that locality, although further up in the dry rocky hills there are numerous.

Logan, Traffic Bureau Chief, Is Suspended

Captain Must Stand Trial On Two Charges

James B. Logan of Menlo Park, veteran captain of the San Mateo County State Highway Patrol, stood suspended today as the result of an order issued in Sacramento Wednesday by E. Raymond Cato, chief of the California Highway Patrol.

Logan must stand trial on two charges: insubordination and absence from duty without leave. The charges were filed against him by Charles D. Reade of San Francisco, inspector of the patrol of this district.

Cato ordered Inspector Melvin Holden of the Fresno county patrol district to take over the duties of captain in San Mateo county until the fate of Logan is learned.

Logan has 10 days in which to file an answer to the charges, preferred against him by Reade. Cato will then name a board to try Logan at a hearing in the courthouse in Redwood City. The veteran captain was one of San Mateo county's first traffic officers and was the county's second captain.

CHINA PRESS HEAD VISITOR

Predicts 'Colossal' War In Asia In Five Years

"A colossal war involving the major powers of the world will occur in Asia within the next five years."

This prophecy was made here today by Hollington K. Tong, managing director of the China Press at Shanghai, who is visiting in Redwood City in the home of Sutton Christian, 147 Birch street.

"Japan has reduced Manchuria to the status of a colony and is now in a position to exploit any part of that vast territory," said Tong. "Repercussions of this virtual conquest will be felt universally during the next few years. Entry of one or more powers into the Sino-Japanese imbroglio is inevitable."

"China will be gutted by communism if Japan ever succeeds in dominating Asia. It is almost certain that Japan cannot avoid a similar conversion to the political principle of Soviet Russia, as she may strive to avert it, if her present policy continues."

Tong has been visiting the principal cities of the United States during the last two months in the interest of the Shun Shi agency, of which he is a director. This agency supplies news to practically every Chinese newspaper.

Four years ago Tong was a member of the Chinese naval commission which made a tour of the world to study armaments of other nations.

Tank Mark Is Doomed When 2 Stars Meet

By EL THOMAS

Buster Olds of Palo Alto and Ralph Gilman of Alameda, two of the foremost 220-yard free style swimmers in Northern California, will clash in the feature competitive event of the sixth annual Redwood City Exchange Club Water Carnival at the Sequoia high school tank Tuesday evening.

The two furlong specialists have never before competed against each other, and the announcement of their entries in the Exchange Club show this morning brought from Chairman James M. Eva the positive prediction that the tank record for the 220 will be lowered when Olds and Gilman cut loose.

Auto Driver's Arm Broken In Crash

When his car was struck by another on the La Honda road at 3 o'clock Friday, August E. Woodward, 65, of Porterville, incurred a broken right arm for which he was treated at the Palo Alto Hospital.

Woodward was driving south on the highway toward Redwood City when Miss Julia Relat, 20, of 1165 Francisco street, San Francisco, tried to pass his car in another, according to Officer Manfred Walzberg's report. Miss Relat's auto struck Woodward's, which left the road.

COMMUNITY SALE DAYS COMING!

Bargains! Bargains!! Bargains!!!
Greater value for your money. Finer merchandise. Larger selection. Radically reduced prices. Extra clerks to serve you.

These and many other items of importance are promised by Redwood City merchants for their seventh semi-annual Community Sale Days, which will be held Friday and Saturday, July 22 and 23.

Red and white window signs and price tags will soon adorn the windows of every progressive merchant of this city, heralding this money saving festival for the residents of the community.

This year, more than ever before, the people are finding it to their advantage to trade in Redwood City. To do so saves them money, not only on the price of merchandise, but through the saving of many items of expense heretofore entailed in making trips to distant points.

Word has been received by the committee handling the event that the residents of many of the towns in San Mateo county have made plans to attend and do their buying here on these days. The Tribune and the Times-Gazette will publish special "Community Sale Days" editions which will be distributed to every home in the trading area. Watch The Tribune for further details, then prepare to make your purchases on these sale days.

BIKE FINALS HERE SUNDAY

Olympic Riders Due On Peninsula

National finals in the 62.14-mile road race to select the American bicycle riders for the Olympic Games will be held Sunday from San Francisco to Redwood City and return.

The finish of the road race will be in the Thirty-fourth avenue stadium in Golden Gate Park, where other qualifying events will be staged starting at 1 p. m.

Four qualifiers each from sectional tryouts at New York, Chicago and San Francisco will make up the starting list, along with Eddie Testa of Los Angeles, who was automatically qualified through past performances.

Bobby Thomas of New York, American champion, and Steve O'Connor of San Francisco, former state champion who is making a comeback this year, are favorites for sprint race honors.

The general admission of 25 cents for the cycling finals entitles the automobile owners to park their cars in the center section of the stadium.

Chinese and Japanese use the same spoken languages, though the written languages are quite different.

Big Bargain Days Coming July 22, 23

"The greatest bargain days in the history of Redwood City." Such was the statement made today by members of the Retail Council of the Redwood City Chamber of Commerce, preparing for the 7th semi-annual Community Sale Days to be held Friday and Saturday, July 22 and 23.

Never before have the merchants been in a position to offer such remarkable bargains and by shrewd buying, especially for this event, they plan to startle the entire trading area with the low prices they will offer. The event will be well advertised and thousands of buyers from throughout the county are expected to come to Redwood City on these days.

That Redwood City is the most economical place to buy merchandise is the message that Redwood City merchants will again bring to the people on Community Sale Days, and they will back it up with real money saving offers.

Watch for further announcements regarding this event and mark the dates on your calendar now—July 22 and 23.

Provisions Of Co. Charter Are Read

The county board of freeholders devoted most of its meeting in the courthouse Wednesday to a reading of a rough draft of charter sections, particularly those sections relating to county offices.

A report from the legislative committee showed the possibility of saving $8000 to the county annually through a revision of the justice of the peace system. Further study will be given to this subject.

The board agreed tentatively to save provision for the merging of the offices of tax collector and treasurer, and of recorder and clerk, "if and when necessary."

County-wide fire protection on an adequate scale, with the cooperation of state and federal forces, including airplane patrol during the dry season, will be provided for in the charter, as will provision for future sanitation needs.

Prof. E. A. Cottrell, head of the department of political science at Stanford University, an authority on governmental affairs, sat with the board again last night.

WRECKERS TEAR DOWN OLD HOUSE

Building Erected In Sixties Being Razed

The two story building at the corner of Pennsylvania avenue and Jefferson avenue has been sold and is being wrecked for the lumber to be removed to North Fair Oaks to be used in the construction of a dwelling. The old structure is one of the landmarks of Redwood City. It was erected in the sixties and at one time was the show place of the city. It is hallowed by the memories of the days—days when the ox teams brought lumber from Searsville to the landing here to be shipped to the markets of the world.

The ancient dwelling has been prominent residents of Redwood City who have long since departed to the region beyond the stars. In the seventies there dwelt Rev. H. E. Jewett, then pastor of the Congregational church, a man of eloquence and distinction. From 1871 to 1873 he was superintendent of schools of San Mateo county, serving with distinction and refusing a renomination at the end of his term. Later he went to Oakland, where he died many years ago.

When the building was erected, the town druggist, who later came a partner of P. P. Chamberlain in the Pioneer Store, Wilcox was chosen county treasurer, which position he held for some years, declining re-election to devote his time to the study of medicine. His partner, the late P. P. Chamberlain, was elected treasurer, holding the position for forty-four years, refusing a re-election on account of his age, he then being 80 years of age.

Wilcox installed the first telephone in Redwood City, the line extending from his store to the dwelling now being razed. Many pleasant conversations were held over the crude arrangement with the speaker's pretty wife. The Bell telephone has since been invented and the one used by Wilcox was more or less a toy affair but it served its purpose.

Wilcox was admitted to practice medicine and left the dwelling for Oakland where he became a prominent physician, holding numerous civic positions. At one time he was a teacher of anatomy at the University of California. Wilcox passed away about ten years ago.

Judge Head, who was blind, followed Wilcox as an occupant of the home. There was a vacancy in the superior court here when the governor, who was a personal friend of Head's, appointed him to fill the vacancy, although Head was a resident of Alameda county. The appointment caused much comment at the time, the governor was flayed for not selecting a local attorney. H. N. Nutting, then district attorney, was a candidate for the place. Head made good as a judge, showing poise and ability and soon the incident was forgotten. Head filled the position for many years, dying before the expiration of his term. Judge E. F. Fitzpatrick was appointed to the bench in his place and filled out the term. Judge Buck followed Fitzpatrick in 1891 and has held the position ever since with honor and distinction.

All those prominent personages who spent happy years in the old landmark have gone and now the famous home itself is no more. All the clustered associations that clustered around the noted dwelling will be treasured in memory only.

Eagles' Team Strengthened For 2nd Half

Manager Charles Rockhold today announced the signing of three new players to strengthen the Redwood City Eagles' baseball team for the second half of the Peninsula Baseball League, in which the Eagles open against the South San Francisco Redmen at Redwood City Sunday afternoon.

Bill Fischer of Palo Alto, former Portland catcher and later with the Palo Alto Black Sox, has been acquired to handle first base for the Eagles.

Sam Triana, a Mayfield boy and also formerly with the Sox, will handle third base Sunday.

Jack Smith of San Francisco, an outfielder, will make his appearance here either Sunday or the following week. He has had winter league experience.

WATER RATES BOOST O. K'D

Holt Realty Company Authorized By R.R. Body

The railroad commission has authorized the C. H. Holt Realty Company to increase the rates upon its water plant serving its Emerald Lake subdivision adjoining Redwood City.

While authorizing an increase in rates, the commission states that improvements must be made in the system to correct what the decision describes to be the "low operating efficiency" of the system. "The consumers," the decision states, "should not be penalized for such conditions."

The decision also orders that all consumers be placed upon a metered basis.

The increase will amount to approximately $5140 a year, and is designed to cover operating and depreciation charges only.

Holdup Duo Takes Oil Man's Cash

Young Lambert Set On And Robbed Of Money

Norbert Lambert, son of Councilman Charles G. Lambert, was robbed by two holdup men near his home, 1212 Whipple avenue, at 9:20 o'clock Sunday as he carried home the day's receipts of his service station at Rogers street and El Camino Real.

According to Lambert's report to police, the two holdup men obtained between $35 and $40. It was a "strong arm" holdup. No guns were used.

The holdup men emerged from shrubbery along the sidewalk where Lambert was walking. One jumped onto his back and the other attacked him from the front. While one gripped him about the neck, the other robbed him. They then fled into the brush and disappeared.

SALARY CUT PROPOSALS HEARD BY CITY COUNCIL

R. C. TRADING PLAN BACKED

Merchants To Lead Buy-At-Home Movement

A campaign to create more business in Redwood City's shopping district will soon get under way. It is sponsored by the First National Bank and has the endorsement of the retail division of the chamber of commerce.

By getting the employers and employees of local stores to lead the trade-at-home movement, it hoped that the idea will spread to all parts of the community.

Merchants will meet Thursday night, July 21, at 8 o'clock, in the fire house auditorium, when F. Holiday, who will conduct the campaign, is to outline his plans. It is estimated that 54 new jobs could be created in the shopping district if money now spent elsewhere remained in Redwood City.

Police Salary $157.50

Police and firemen would be cut from $175 per month to $157.50 per month, a reduction of $18.50. Police Chief C. L. Collins (also city electrician) would be reduced from $275 per month to $225; Fire Chief Mark E. Ryan would be cut from $200 to $150 (part time).

City Manager Ernest A. Rolison's salary would be reduced $50 from $450 to $400 per month; City Attorney Albert Mansfield would be Shook would be cut from $125 to $100 and Doris Thompson, $60 water; $70 general) would be cut from $130 to $117.

Tax Collector Nelle Miramontes would be reduced from $200 to $180, and her two assistants, Mary Donovan and Mary Gussner, would take $27 less together.

Police Sergeant Stanley Wood would be reduced from $190 to $171, and Capt. L. W. Fowler of the fire department would be cut $185 ($10 for painting) to $167.50.

Would Abolish Engineer

City Engineer Dimmick's salary of $325 ($75 street; $75 engineer; $25 rent; $150 water) would be abolished, and the work accruing in this department would be transferred to the office of city manager.

Street and Water Superintendent A. S. Liguori would get a reduction from $225 to $205 and all employees of the department would be reduced. Park Superintendent George Hopkins would be reduced from $200 to $150, and City Mechanic Joseph Smith would be reduced from $200 to $180.

Urges Assessment Drop

In addition to these recommendations on salaries, the committee urged that the city board to relieve real estate of the present heavy burden by reducing the city assessed valuation from $13,000,000 to $8,000,000. In order to create the new revenue which this would make necessary, it was proposed that additional personal property taxes be levied on the present.

The report of the committee said that at the present time the city is collecting on only $190,000 of assessed personal property, whereas in a city of this size the personal property, including automobiles, securities, jewelry, live stock, etc., should be assessed at least $750,000.

Fire Chief Ryan and Police Judge McAuliffe, speaking not as officials but as taxpayers and citizens of Redwood City, and both of whom accepted the proposed salary reductions without complaint, made strong pleas to the city council that firemen and policemen be kept at the present wage scale.

It was pointed out by them that these public servants risked their lives every time they received a call, and that in a moment's time at the scene of danger could earn a lifetime's salary.

McAuliffe called it a "fatal mistake" to reduce the wages of these public servants. Ryan, who said he had been on the job 17 years without salary and who asked a salary only to be able to pay part of the heavy burden of taxation which he was carrying, said: "I see some faces here tonight who have never been satisfied with no difference what tax rate you impose. I know. I sat at that council table for eight years."

Julius Smith, one of the committee members presenting the city affairs committee's report, said that in asking the firemen and policemen to take the cut the committee did so that the city could have the money on hand to pay their salaries by making it possible for the taxpayers to meet the bill.

Thomas J. Kane, saying that he has found the police and fire departments manned by an efficient body of men, spoke strongly against the reduction of salaries for these services. "By curtailing these services," he said, "you are doing the city no good."

Issue Is Tax Cuts

Jerry Hallinan, president of the property owners' division of the realty board, said that he held

Items in the 1932-33 budget totaling $42,327 which could be given the axe in the estimation of the city affairs committee of the property owners division of the Redwood City District Real Estate Board were submitted to the city council for consideration at a public hearing in the firehouse auditorium Wednesday night.

To make this huge statement possible, the city affairs committee would reduce police and firemen's salaries 10 per cent, would lop off part of the pay checks of every city official, would abolish the city engineer's office, would reduce by $15,000 the revolving fund (which is cash in the city's pockets during the months of July to November), cut from $295 (including $25 rent) to $200; City Treasurer and Clerk E. E. Myers would be cut from $250 per month to $200; Building Inspector and Health Officer Con Drathman would be reduced from $250 to $200; Police Judge Edward McAuliffe would be given $112.50 instead of $125; Poundmaster J. B. $9,990, and would reduce anticipated expenditures by $1,685.

Proposed salary cuts would reduce the city payroll by $15,652.

Police Salary $157.50

Police and firemen would be cut from $175 per month to $157.50 per month, a reduction of $18.50. Police Chief C. L. Collins (also city electrician) would be reduced from $275 per month to $225; Fire Chief Mark E. Ryan would be cut from $200 to $150 (part time).

City Manager Ernest A. Rolison's salary would be reduced $50 from $450 to $400 per month; City Attorney Albert Mansfield would be Shook would be cut from $125 to $100 and Doris Thompson, $60 water; $70 general) would be cut from $130 to $117.

Tax Collector Nelle Miramontes would be reduced from $200 to $180, and her two assistants, Mary Donovan and Mary Gussner, would take $27 less together.

Police Sergeant Stanley Wood would be reduced from $190 to $171, and Capt. L. W. Fowler of the fire department would be cut $185 ($10 for painting) to $167.50.

City Collector Miramontes also made a protest against the committee's failure to allow her to be heard on the reductions proposed for her assistants.

William Jamieson, 640 Maple street, getting up to say that it looked "like we aren't getting anywhere on this tax reduction," suggested that the city go back four years ago before it adopted the new charter. Calling attention to the defeat of Mayor Daniel R. Stafford by Councilman Robert N. Jones, Jamieson said: "Remember a stranger came into town and beat your mayor."

This brought Councilman Charles G. Lambert to his feet and he said to Jamieson that "I am here as a taxpayer and I want to see taxes reduced. If I believe an item can be cut, I will vote in favor of it; if I believe it should stand, I will vote against the cut."

Rolison Defends Items

City Manager Rolison was then called upon by Mayor William J. Dusel and Councilman Paul McCarthy to give a detailed reply to each of the proposed reductions. This was not expected, and the report being given to the council "to mull over." Rolison did reply, however, explaining each item as follows:

The $4,000 item for the Hudson street bridge—This was voted by the people in a bond issue for that purpose, Rolison said, and should be so used. Councilman Jones defended the item, saying it belonged to the people of his district and was put into the budget at his request.

The $10,000 item for the paving of Chestnut street—Rolison said that the cement company had agreed to give $2500 worth of materials free to the city if the city expended $1000 for labor to put in the street.

The $1500 paving unit for the sewer department—He said the original system was built for three units but that only two were installed 12 years ago. He said it would be good engineering practice to install the third as a safety factor.

The return of $1250 to the water department—Rolison said this money was borrowed from this department to buy the land of the corporation yard; that the water department is supposed to be run under the city's rules as nearly as possible and that it was unfair to borrow this money from the water user and not to return it.

City Requires Cash

The reduction of the revolving fund from $40,000 to $25,000—"This is not a saving; merely a delusion," Rolison said. It would mean simply that the city would not have enough money to operate during the months from July to November. Few cities of the sixth class provide such a fund, he said, and the result is that they borrow the money from banks and pay 7 per cent interest. "A city should live within its income the same as any individual," Rolison said.

The abolition of the city engineer's office—Rolison said he did not believe the committee had clearly analyzed this situation or it would not have made such a recommendation. He said that a study of engineering costs at San Mateo, where the engineer's office has been abolished, would probably show the city was paying just as much for engineering services by hiring it done.

Omission of the $650 Ford car for the police department—This car was to be used to catch speeders, he said, and was to replace a car which had traveled 40,000 miles; which latter car would be used in the water department.

Reduction of miscellaneous items of electrical department from $500 to $250—"If the people are willing to accept few street light extensions and will be satisfied with smaller lights, this can be done," Rolison said.

Menlo Park

Last week the Pioneer Society of San Francisco elected Judge Charles Shurtliff president of the organization. The judge is a native son and a lawyer of recognized ability. He comes from a pioneer family of the state. The appointment is a good one and a recognition of Mr. Shurtliff's worth and ability.

Miss Emily McCarthy left Wednesday with a party of friends for Lake Tahoe to spend ten days on the delightful shores of the great lake, nestled in the mountains.

J. J. Barrett, the widely known San Francisco attorney and orator, has leased the Caine home on San Mateo drive for the summer months. Mr. Barrett was one of the leading lawyers in the Flood will contest case, he appearing for the Flood estate. The attorney is a graduate of Santa Clara University.

The state traffic department on Sunday and Monday last had two men employed in counting the number of automobiles passing through Menlo Park at Santa Cruz avenue and the highway. The number on Sunday was 22,000 and Monday 11,000. The traffic was unusually light on both days.

Registration closes on July 21 for the primary election on August 30. Register now and thus be enabled to vote for Senator Shortridge for re-election. The home town of the senator must give him a big vote. It will.

Last week in San Francisco a baby girl was born to Mrs. R. Handley, formerly Margaret Kelly, who grew to womanhood here and is widely known on the peninsula. The new arrival completes a group of one boy and three girls.

Philip D-B. Perham, dean of the Moran Junior College near Seattle, left yesterday for the north after having spent two weeks at his home in Menlo Park where he has been interviewing candidates for positions on the faculty of the college. Mrs. Perham and their two daughters will remain here until Dean Perham's return in about a month. At that time they are planning a motor trip up the Redwood highway and Columbia river before finally settling at Bainbridge Island on the college campus.

The Misses Nina, Margaret and Charlotte Thomas of Corvallis, Oregon, former residents of Menlo Park, are visiting on the peninsula. They spent the week-end at the home of the Rev. and Mrs. W. L. Bone and are now in Mayfield with their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Haight. Before going north, they plan to visit in Redwood City with Miss Nancy Furnival.

Councilmen Anderson and Hart were absent from the regular meeting of the city council Tuesday evening. Considerable routine business was transacted by the other three members.

A communication was read from Menlo Post Number 443, American Legion, stating that the Kraft Carnival Show was coming to Menlo Park on July 17 sponsored by the Legion and that if the license fee could be remitted, 50 per cent of the amount received would be appropriated to the unemployed committee. Mayor Weeden explained that to grant the request the existing ordinance would have to be amended. On the advice of the city attorney it was agreed to charge a license fee of $50, a similar amount having been paid last year by the same concern. Weeden said the post would not receive half of the proceeds of the business of the show, but only a small percentage for which the post would have to furnish the grounds.

A communication was read from John O'Keefe and wife protesting against a fire menace near their home consisting of oil barrels and a growth of wild oats near their dwelling. In as much as the fire hazard was on private property, the council took no action.

Mayor A. Smith of Sausalito invited the council to attend a meeting of the Peninsula League of Municipalities at that place. The council took no action, simply filing the letter.

The clerk was instructed to issue a warrant for a license that the sum of $5 for a license that was issued to him and which he never used, having failed to open a fruit exchange on the highway. Treasurer J. W. Ryan sent a communication to the council asserting that demands were being made upon him by the bondholders of the various road improvement districts for interest on the bonds and for the retirement of others and that the money was not available in the funds. The city attorney advised that there were only two ways to meet the request: one was to transfer moneys from other funds to the delinquent funds and the other way was to ignore the demand at present until money would be available. The council took the latter course.

By a resolution, the office of city engineer, superintendent of streets and building inspector in the Sutton building, was transferred to the city hall, where all records of the offices are to be kept.

Harvey F. Huesties was appointed poundmaster on his application. He is to receive half the fees collected as his compensation. Chief of Police Love addressed the council saying that Fire Commissioner Howell had requested that Merrill Avenue, where the fire house is located, be closed for parking. Police Comm. Warner Crane was instructed to secure the "No Parking" signs at a cost of $12.

The sum of $10 was allocated for painting the parking signs, on Santa Cruz avenue from the highway to the Southern Pacific depot. A check amounting to $23.23 was received from the contractors for publication of street improvement notices as per agreement.

L. C. Macabee resigned as city engineer, superintendent of streets and building inspector and Bert J. Mehl was appointed to fill the vacancy until such time as all the work on the various improvement districts was completed. Macabee was appointed at the last meeting of the council to take Mehl's place at a salary of $20 a month and Mehl was in such a position as to be employed by the county it was illegal for him to accept compensation as city engineer. When Mehl completes his work it is more than likely Macabee will again be appointed to the offices he vacated.

The meeting adjourned out of respect to the memory of Mrs. Frank P. Roach, and will convene again on July 19.

In preparation for the new school year, the school auditorium is being remodeled. The hall has been enlarged, a new stage has been built with adequate dressing rooms and a new lighting system is to be installed. The engagement of the young couple was announced in May by the parents of the bride elect, Mr. and Mrs. Selah Chamberlain. Miss Chamberlain has been the center of a number of social events in her honor since the announcement, both on the peninsula and in Santa Barbara, where the parents of Mr. Hunter reside.

The Family Farm is at its greatest popularity in July. The accommodations are taxed by the members of the club and many parties are being given there each week.

Miss Alda Silva of Woodside left on Saturday for Chicago where she will take part in the Olympic trials. Although she has already gained fame in the javelin throw, she expects to compete at this time in the hurdle races.

Run In First Saves Locals From Shutout

By EL THOMAS

A single run in the first inning by Killilea, lead-off man, saved the Redwood City Eagles from a shutout at the hands of the H. Moffatt club in an 8 to 1 Peninsula Baseball League victory for the Oaklanders here yesterday.

Killilea walked and was advanced to third on Stephens' single. Miller hit into a sacrifice double play that caught Stephens at third, but Killilea came in on the play.

The Moffatts made short work of the Eagles in temporary lead and came right back to score two runs in their half when Freitas walked and Brown doubled.

The Eagles were well in the running for four more innings, neither side being able to dent the rubber, but the Moffatts gradually stepped up the pace from the sixth on. They scored double killings in the third and ninth to check the Eagles' scoring.

Eleventh Hatley, local pitcher, pulled out of a tight place in the fifth when Vierra, shortstop for the visitors, tripled, and two others were given passes to fill the bags. A strikeout and two assists retired the side.

A Moffatt run in the sixth was the result of an error, while another boot in the seventh and some timely hitting accounted for two more. Three men came in during the eighth frame, on a double, a wild pitch, two singles and a walk with the bases loaded.

Caldera, Moffatt chucker, had the local boys on his hip all the way and dished up a delivery that allowed only five hits, all singles.

The game was postponed first-half encounter, played yesterday while other teams in the league were beginning the second half. The victory gives the Moffatts undisputed leadership in the league and a heavy advantage with which to start the second half, especially with the second-place Broadway Merchants bowing to the Peerless the Oaklanders here Sunday.

MOOSE RALLY TO NOSE OUT LOMITA PARK

Overcoming a lead of 7 to 0 against them for the first six innings, the Redwood City Moose rallied brilliantly to nose out the Lomita Park Firemen by a score of 8 to 7 at Lomita Park Sunday.

A terrific homer lifted into deep left field in the seventh by McGraw, Moose second baseman, started Manager Tommy Williams' crew on a hitting spree that nicked Cox, Lomita chucker, for 19 bingles before the excitement was over.

The Redwood City boys scored four runs in the sixth and three more in the seventh to tie the score. Driscoll batted in Shaler with the winning tally in the first of the ninth.

McGraw led the Moose batsmen with his sterling three-for-four performance, while Shaler's similar average included a three-bagger. Ken Farrell, who pitched for six innings, hit safely three times out of five, and Driscoll netted a two-bagger and a base hit out of four trips to the plate.

Bogle, Lomita left-fielder, hit a homer; Gibbs landed a triple, and Kendall and Harris were good for a two-bagger apiece.

SHORTRIDGE STAYS AT POST TO HELP STATE AND NATION

The numerous friends of Senator Samuel M. Shortridge throughout the state admire him for his loyalty to duty. His campaign for re-election is at its height and he is needed in California to direct operations, but the senator will remain until the end of the session to battle for California and the nation and secure the passage of such legislation as will be for the best interests of both.

Mr. Shortridge will not desert his post to further his own interests. His place is at Washington and there he will remain until released by the adjournment of congress. Such loyalty is deserving of admiration and should find appreciation in the heart of every voter who loves his state and country.

Mr. Shortridge has ever been faithful to his state in watching and advancing its interests at the Capital. He has always been at his post, ever alert and eloquent on the floor of the senate in advocating its cause.

The voters of the state are not going to overlook this service. They are going to keep this tried and true servant of the people at Washington, where he, by experience, is in a position to do much good.

Mr. Shortridge will go back to Washington by a larger vote than he ever received in any previous election. All signs point to this. "Keep Shortridge at the Capital" should be the slogan of the voters of California.

BUDGET

he said. He cited as an example that when the new Catholic school was built, a request was made for better lighting. With an investment of $100,000 in the school, a little better lighting could hardly be refused, he said.

Cutting of miscellaneous items of harbor from $500 to $250—Rollison said this department was bringing in more revenue than it was using, and that at the same time the city was building up a recreational center.

Rollison protested the committee's statement that by "rigid economy and centralized buying" the gas, oil and upkeep of cars, and the purchase of supplies for the departments could be reduced, saying that was exactly what he was doing and that he was giving the experience of 17 years to the job.

Admits Assessment High

The city manager said he knew the city assessment was high, but that the tax rate was low and that he believed this was a good combination and a good advertisement for the city. He said he was not opposed to collection of additional personal property taxes, but said this would take some study before being put in effect. This was admitted by Committeeman Smith, who said the machinery could not be set up this year.

At the conclusion of the long debate, the feeling appeared to exist that the city manager had defended his budget in a satisfactory manner. The taxpayers present also were given a new insight into the close scrutiny which each of the items had been given by the council, and a realization was carried away that the board was cognizant of the need of tax reductions and was striving to achieve this end.

This was summed up in a statement by Phillip Owen, who said he "had observed more and learned more about his city government than he ever knew was possible in a single evening." He said that in his travels he had never run across a more efficient police or fire department, and urged the board to keep the present salaries.

Minds Still Open
Councilman McCarthy said that the council has not finally settled upon any item, but will go into the budget again with an "open mind" to see what items can safely be reduced if any.

Councilman Lambert called the meeting "interesting and constructive" and hoped for additional contacts with the "stockholders of this corporation."

The report of the committee, which was signed by Thomas Tufts as chairman, was turned over to Mayor Duse and the council for its guidance. The budget does not have to be approved until September.

Cosgrave To Leave On Annual Vacation

David Cosgrave, the widely-known attorney of Redwood City, will leave this week for a two weeks' vacation to be spent on his ranch in Calaveras county, his boyhood home.

WHAT ABOUT THIS RACKET?
The American people seem to be developing a great aptitude for "chiseling." There is hardly any proposition that can come up without some one finding a way of making a racket of it.

The first racket growing out of the government's revenue increase to balance the budget was quashed in Stockton yesterday by the postmaster, who found two youths were planning to deliver letters and statements for business firms at a rate of two cents each, so the business men can avoid paying the three-cent postage which goes into effect next week.

Word from Washington says that such practice is illegal. Uncle Sam has a monopoly on the postal business, it was declared.

It may be, however, that some legislation will be required to regulate the matter. Business firms for many years have hired carriers to deliver circulars without sending them through the postoffice. Every citizen at times finds his mail box or his front porch decorated by many pieces of advertising that are mailed. Bills for milk, ice or other services are often delivered by carrier without consulting Uncle Sam. These and other things which might be sent through the mail are continually being delivered by carrier principally for the purpose of saving postage.

Is it illegal to deliver statements or advertising personally? It probably will be necessary to have a special ruling on this to decide just where privilege ceases and law violation begins.—Santa Rosa Press Democrat.

MUSIC HATH CHARMS
To an appeal of club women that music study be recognized in the grammar grades of New York schools, an official of the state education department returned a refusal, with the remark, "I think it would be terrible to bring up everybody as a musician; we want human beings."

We shall not bother with the imputation that musicians are not human beings. Leave that to the musicians. The point we are concerned with here is the curious fact that many persons think of music as something outside education, apart from training to live. The schools teach algebra without intending to bring up everybody as a mathematician; poetry with no purpose to make all persons poets—without even making any cracks about poets as unhuman—drawing with no intent to turn mankind into Rembrandts.

Not one in a thousand of the children who struggle with their algebra will ever use it, yet there is nothing equal to mathematics for training in careful thinking. If anything, too little algebra and geometry is taught to children who will never use it. The schools teach literature and drawing with a purpose to develop appreciation of things beyond the dull material grind. They are intended to make life fuller. And why not music also?

Why should music, among all the aesthetic subjects of schooling, be the stepchild of education? The ancients, though they had not carried music to anything like the development of these times, nevertheless gave it equal rank among the Muses.—San Francisco Chronicle.

ROMANCE OF MAPS
Modern man, for whom little is left to discover, will glory in that old map found in a Turkish museum, which, it is said, was the one by which Christopher Columbus charted his third voyage to America.

There is a world of romance, in maps, especially in very ancient ones. They inspire fanciful dreams and transport the dreamer into other worlds. It was because his map was incomplete and inaccurate that Columbus set sail into the unknown.

Gazing at such a chart as that found in Turkey, a modern, given a good imagination, could almost experience the sensations Columbus must have known as he sat in the cabin of his ship and charted his course, or thought he did.

Motor tourists who have traversed uncharted detours in strange lands can appreciate what ancient navigators were up against with the maps of their day.—Grass Valley Union.

Mrs. Norwood Smith Of Atherton Files Action Here

Norwood B. Smith, well-known Palo Alto real estate operator, was sued for divorce in a complaint placed on file in Redwood City Tuesday by Mrs. Jessie K. Smith of Atherton following a long illness.

The Smiths were married in Los Angeles on April 15, 1903, and separated in Atherton, November 30, 1931. They have two grown sons, N. Browning Smith Jr. and Dana K. Smith, both of Palo Alto and associated with their father in the University Realty Company. Mr. Smith is charged with repeatedly telling his wife that he is cold and indifferent toward her and that he has left their home and refuses to return; that he refuses to take her to places of amusement but has taken "another person and other persons" out to dine.

A property settlement has been reached and she asks $200 monthly alimony to be increased to $250 after January 1. The firm of Lakin & Leve is representing the plaintiff.

HOWARD CASE ARGUED

Order Should Read She Is "Capable" Guardian, Says Matron

Proposed amendments to a temporary order on file by which Superior Judge George H. Buck has removed Mrs. Fannie May Howard-Herscher of Hillsborough as guardian of the person of her boy, Robert S. Howard, were argued before the jurist at 9 o'clock Saturday.

Mrs. Herscher sought to have it shown in the final order that she was a capable guardian and not "incapable" as the order stands. She also wished it shown that her absence from California was caused by her ill health and did not constitute a neglect of the boy, who was in the Menlo School for Boys during that period. Judge Buck took the points under advisement.

Airbase Assuming Tangible Form; New Buildings Start

Gradually but steadily the Sunnyside Naval Air Station project is assuming tangible form.

A month ago, during the ship Akron's visit, only the south end arches of the hangar and the foundation work for several of the permanent buildings greeted the visitor. Today, the steel framework of the hangar—its doors, three main arches and its oblique and gable arches at the south end completed—is taking definite shape and work of several buildings.

Work was commenced yesterday by Siems-Helmert, Inc., on the covering at the very top of the hangar. This covering will be of wood with built-up roofing at the top. The sloping sides of the huge building will be covered with an asbestos material, and a concrete six-foot wall will be built around the lower portion. From now on the work of enclosing the bare steelwork will proceed as rapidly as possible in the wake of the steel erection, according to Lieut. Comm. E. L. Marshall, the navy's director of construction work.

More than a third of the steelwork by weight—has already been completed. Some 3000 tons out of the total 8300 tons of steel have already been put into place. The navy's schedule, which is being maintained on the job, calls for the completion of the hangar on February 15, and that date will be met, barring unforeseen difficulties.

The buildings which have already risen well above the ground are the dispensary, the barracks, the high-pressure helium storehouse and the boiler plant. The 125-foot base for the stack of the latter is practically finished, and the water tank has been completed.

Work has also started on the foundation work for the six industrial buildings, storehouse, paint and oil storehouse, commissary, garage, fire station and laundry, locomotive and crane shed and shop building. Within a few weeks erection of the walls of these buildings will be well under way.

Bids were opened in Washington last week on another group of buildings, the contract to be let within the near future. These include the aerological building, bachelor officers' quarters, cafe and recreation building. Bids have yet to be sought for the married officers' quarters.

Two wells have been sunk at the air station, one to 1000 feet and the other to 1020 feet. Both are delivering a large quantity of water, although further pumping is expected to be necessary to determine the uniformity of its quality.
